The Colonial Williamsburg Foundation operates the world's largest living history museum in Williamsburg, VA – the restored 18th-century capital of Britain's largest, wealthiest, and most populous outpost of empire in the New World. This is where the idea of America began, decades before the American Revolution. The Colonial Williamsburg story, of a revolutionary city, tells how diverse peoples, having different and sometimes conflicting ambitions, evolved into a society that valued liberty and equality. Americans cherish these values as a birthright, even when their promise remains unfulfilled. In this 301-acre historic area stands hundreds of restored, reconstructed, and historically furnished buildings. Costumed interpreters tell the stories of the men and women of the 18th-century city—black, white, & Native American; slave, indentured, & free—and the challenges they faced. In this historic place, the future can learn from the past.
